

NUMBER OF DECEASED IN WORK CAMPS KEEPS BEING LOWERED

Since 1945, reports on the number of Jews that died during WW II kept being revised and lowered. However, as the totals continued to drop, inexplicably the fabricated figure of six million remained unchanged.

~~Moreover, once the Nazis rose to power in Germany, Jews began leaving that country, as they did the continent of Europe as a whole. Their destinations included Palestine, the U.S., and Russia (among others). Their movements were so staggering that it became a de facto second exodus.~~

On June 9, 1945 Freiling Foster of Colliers magazine pinpointed the population of Jews in German-occupied Europe at 3,450,000. This figure is interesting because how could six million Jews die in a holocaust when there weren't even that many living in Europe at the time?

~~Even more telling, when the Nazis became a prominent force to be dealt with in 1933, only 560,000 Jews resided in Germany. In those regions closest to Hitler's government—specifically Germany, Czechoslovakia and Austria—only 360,000 Jews remained after 1939. Is the picture starting to become clear? There weren't even six million Jews living in Europe during the time of Hitler's reign that could have been killed.~~

On July 13, 1994 PBS (KENW-TV) televised an account of famed pilot Charles Lindbergh's life. During this documentary, it was claimed that Lindbergh visited one of Germany's labor camps and returned to say that only 25,000 total people perished in one-and-a-half years.

Strangely, Simon Wiesenthal—a notoriously deceptive Nazi hunter—boasted after WW II that Germany killed 10 million Jews in Poland, Latvia and Lithuania alone. Similarly, in 1943—two years before WW II ended—Rafael Lemkin, author of

Simon Wiesenthal

Axis Rule in Occupied Europe, alleged that six million Jews had already died by 1943. He's also the man who created the term "genocide." Oddly enough, in Feb. 1943 Reader's Digest also stated that six million Jews had already been killed.

But did any type of genocidal extermination occur in regard to the Jews? An examination of the numbers is merited. On Mar. 24, 1933 the Daily Express, a Jewish newspaper, listed the total Jews worldwide at 14 million. The 1933 World Almanac, p. 419, estimated the number of Jews at 15,316,359.

Continuing, the 1936 World Almanac, p. 748, had the worldwide Jewish population at 15,753,633, while in 1938 it was 15,748,091. In 1939, the American Jewish Committee Bureau of the Synagogue Council cited the Jewish population at 15.6 million.

World Almanac 1940 – 15.3 million
1941 – 15.7 million
1942 – 15.1 million
1947 – 15.6 million
1949 – 15.7 million

World Almanac 1945 edition

Let's pause for a moment to consider these figures. When America entered the war in 1941, Jews globally totaled 15.7 million. Supposedly, by the end of WW II in 1945, the Nazis had expunged six million Jews. Yet in 1947, the total Jewish population—according to the esteemed World Al- manac—was 15.6 million—essentially no change whatsoever. How can that possibly be?

Adding more weight to this argument, on Feb. 22, 1948 the New York Times listed total Jews worldwide at 15.6 million, plus another 600,000-700,000 living in Palestine. The grand total equals 16.2 million—more than when WW II began.

Hanson Baldwin, a renowned war historian for the New York Times, likewise placed the number of Jews in the world circa 1948 at over 15 million. Curiously, in 1943 a publication called Information Please provided a number of 15,152,098 Jews worldwide.

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

In this same vein, in 1946 the Red Cross released a report with a bombshell revelation: between 270,000-300,000 registered inmates of all nationalities perished in German-controlled work camps. Of these, no more than half were Jews, and these individuals died primarily of typhoid and other diseases.

Even more importantly, the Red Cross made it clear that the majority of deaths occurred as the war wound down and Allied bombing campaigns obliterated all food and supply lines to the work camps.

Equally as interesting, the International Red Cross examined extremely detailed German death records and determined that a total of 150,000 workers died at Auschwitz, with only 30,000 being Jewish. Of course, holocaust historians maintained for decades that the Nazis eliminated four million Jews at Auschwitz.

The Red Cross should know because during the war, Nazi officers allowed them to make regular deliveries and inspections of their various work camps. In their own words, the Red Cross reported, "As many as 9,000 parcels were packed daily. From the autumn of 1943 until May 1945, about 1,112,000 parcels with a total weight of 4,500 tons were sent to the concentration camps."

If concentration camps were intended to be death chambers where Jews were killed by the millions, why did the Nazis allow Red Cross personnel to deliver so much food, clothing and medicine?

Let's dig even deeper into their data. In June 1946, document # 9925, the Red Cross interviewed inmates freed from various Nazi-run camps at the end of WW II. These individuals were asked if they witnessed any gassings. The Red Cross then wrote, "The detainees themselves have not spoken of them."

None of the workers confirmed rumors of "killing factories." Remember, during the entirety of WW II, the Red Cross constantly delivered supplies to these camps. Never once did they file a complaint or make any records of Auschwitz ovens used to gas human beings. Not once, not even in their 1,600-page 1946 report. Nor did they mention any shower stalls or showerheads disguised to deliver gas that was used for mass executions.

To convey the importance of this information, never once in their extensive post-war biographies did Dwight David Eisenhower, Winston Churchill, France's Charles de Gaulle or Harry Truman mention extermination camps in Germany (or countries that Germans occupied). Furthermore, during the war neither the Red Cross, other humanitarian agencies, the Vatican, or any of the Allied governments ever broach the subject of a holocaust that exterminated six million Jews.

The Red Cross claimed that at war's end, a total of 120,000 survivors of all nationalities were released or freed from concentration camps. During the war a total of 3.4 million Jews resided in German-occupied Europe. We know this figure is accurate because the World Jewish Congress published a book entitled Unity in Dispersion that stated on p. 377, "The majority of German Jews succeeded in leaving Germany before the war broke out."

Further, to cite Freiling Foster again in the June 9, 1945 issue of Colliers magazine, "2.2 million [Jews] have migrated to the Soviet Union since 1939 to escape from the Nazis.”

So, roughly 3.4 million Jews lived in Europe during WW II, and there were only 120,000 total concentration camp survivors. But then something strange began to happen. On Mar. 31, 1956 the German government settled claims with 400,000 concentration camp “survivors.” Then, on June 30, 1965—nearly a decade later—3,375,020 more Jews claimed to be holocaust survivors.

As stated, however, only 3.4 million Jews even resided in all of Europe during WW II. Then, amazingly, by the year 2000, the nation of Israel proclaimed a total number of holocaust survivors at 1,092,000. Now, if this is the number 55 years after the war, and considering that “survivors” naturally would have perished over the course of five decades, then conceivably the purported number of holocaust survivors in 1945 would have been—at least according to holocaust historians—over five million.

So, let's reexamine the numbers. There were supposedly six million Jews exterminated during WW II and another five million survivors. Yet, all of Europe only had 3.4 million total Jews. Does anyone think the math is a bit fuzzy here?
