

AUSCHWITZ (part two)

The issue of Auschwitz's "death chambers" must be addressed once again. First of all, the doors supposedly used to lock prisoners in their execution rooms were so flimsy as to be laughable. Photos show these doors being made of wood and incapable of being hermetically sealed.

As such, with no gaskets, Zyklon B would have naturally seeped out, killing the SS guards. Worse, there are gaps between the floors of these rooms and the bottoms of the doors, therefore allowing any gasses to quickly escape. Other photos clearly reveal windows on the doors made of a single pane of glass. Had prisoners desperate for their lives been inside, they obviously would have smashed these windows within seconds.

Plus, the doors opened inward. If piles of corpses were lying inside, wouldn't the Germans design doors that opened outward so they could get to the bodies for disposal?

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

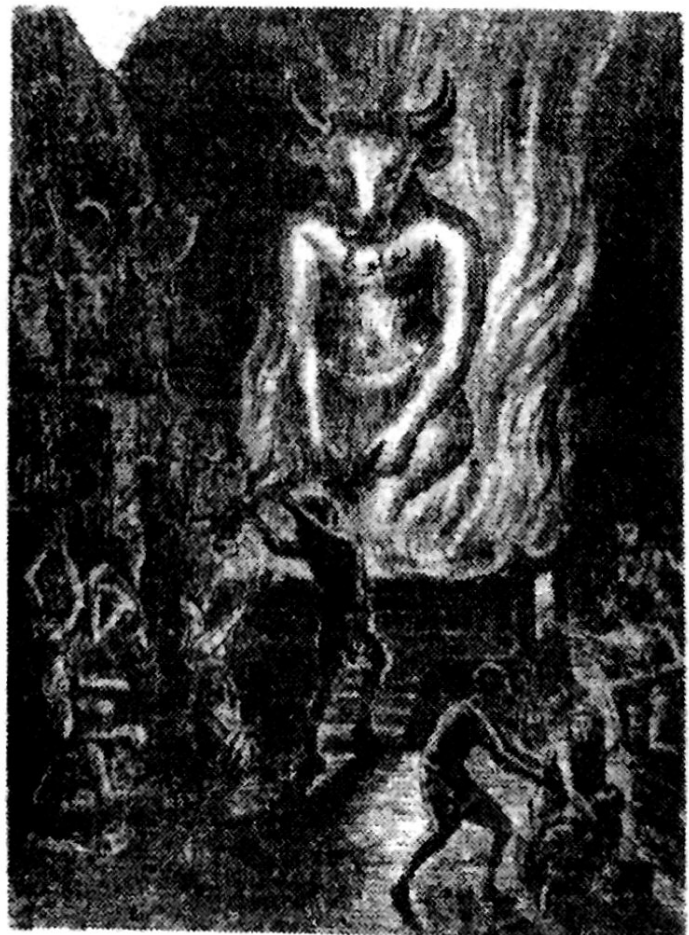

- By 1958, famed holocaust celebrity Elie Wiesel wrote that he actually saw Germans burning Jews alive. “Not far from us blazed flames from a pit, gigantic flames. They were burning something. A lorry [truck] drove up to the pit and dumped something into it. They were small children. Babies! Yes, I had seen it with my own eyes!”

Oddly enough, in his earlier book entitled La Nuit that detailed his eight months at Auschwitz, Wiesel didn't make a single mention of gas chambers being used at this facility. Further, even the most ardent holocaust fanatics have never stated that Nazis burned still-living Jews in pits of fire.

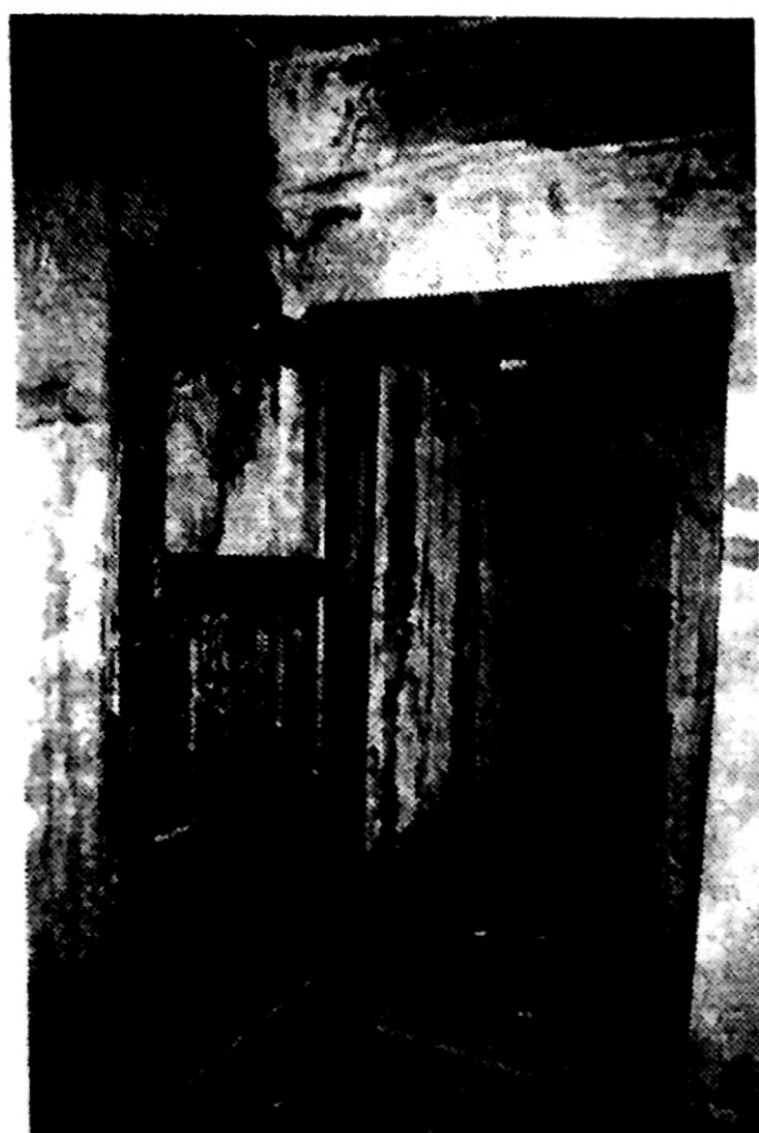

However, Jewish religious folklore does contain stories of Jewish parents sacrificing their children in huge pits of fire to the god Moloch.

AUSCHWITZ: Technique and operation of the gas chambers

by
Jean-Claude PRESSAC

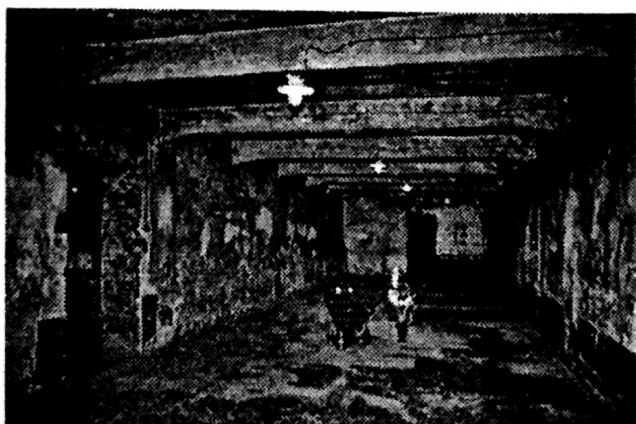

The Babi Yar Fund

In their original state prior to being reconstructed, these “death chambers” were actually shower units that possessed water pipes running along their ceilings. A holocaust historian named Jean-Claude Pressac concurred in his 1989 book Auschwitz: Technique and Operation of Gas Chambers that a door on display at Majdanek used to contain Jews was, in actuality, of a “non-homicidal variety” . . . i.e. it’s purpose was solely to seal a room used to delouse clothing.

Further, Auschwitz’s original design plans still exist, and none of them depict what could be called “gas chambers.” Moreover, these plans—again, original and unaltered—did not contain provisions for exhaust units to dispense of any supposed poisonous gasses. Lastly, no crematoria smokestacks ever existed in the design plans or construction at Auschwitz. There weren’t any whatsoever. All of these “show pieces” were added later for the benefit of museum visitors.

Then there’s the matter of sheer numbers. Historians demand that anywhere upwards of 600-800 Jews were simultaneously crammed into the Krema I gas chamber. However, with a mere floor space of 844 square feet, at the very most 100 people could fit into this area. Considering the obvious struggle under such perilous circumstances, quite possibly only 40-50 people could be corralled at a time before total bedlam resulted.

At any rate, the next matter at hand is the subject of cremation. Morticians agree that it requires approximately 60-70 minutes—using up-to-date technology—to adequately cremate a human body. Now, if we buy the version of events provided by holocaust historians—namely, that ovens at Auschwitz were used for, at best, a total of 600 days—let's do some mathematics. If every supposed oven at Auschwitz ran non-stop except for maintenance and the removal of ashes, the TOTAL number of bodies that could have been cremated was 374,000.

Repeat: 374,000. Now, how do we go from this figure to the four million total that stood for decades? A Canadian man named Ivan Lagace, who managed a crematory, revealed during the Apr. 1988 Ernst Zündel trial that the Auschwitz cremation tale was “preposterous” and “beyond the realm of reality.” He added that allegations regarding the incineration of 10,000-20,000 Jews every day was “technically impossible.”

‘If all the supposed ovens at Auschwitz had worked non-stop with no downtime whatsoever, it would have taken until 1972 to incinerate four million bodies.

On that note, if four million bodies had been cremated, it would result in 15,000 tons of ashes. In pounds, that equals 30 million pounds of ashes. There has never been one photograph showing these mountains of ash that would have been produced.

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

In addition, imagine how many tons of coal would have been necessary to cremate four million Jews. It would require trains traveling around the clock to Auschwitz delivering the coal needed to cremate four million Jews. But there are no Allied reconnaissance photos in existence revealing huge supplies of coal (millions and millions of them) at Auschwitz. Nor do German records support any such massive deliveries to Auschwitz in regard to this much coal. Rather, the Nazis actually needed coal to fuel their war machine, not incinerate Jews.

In all, two researchers—Carlo Mattogno and Franco Deana—estimated that at the very most, 162,000 bodies of the sick and elderly were cremated at Auschwitz after they died natural deaths.

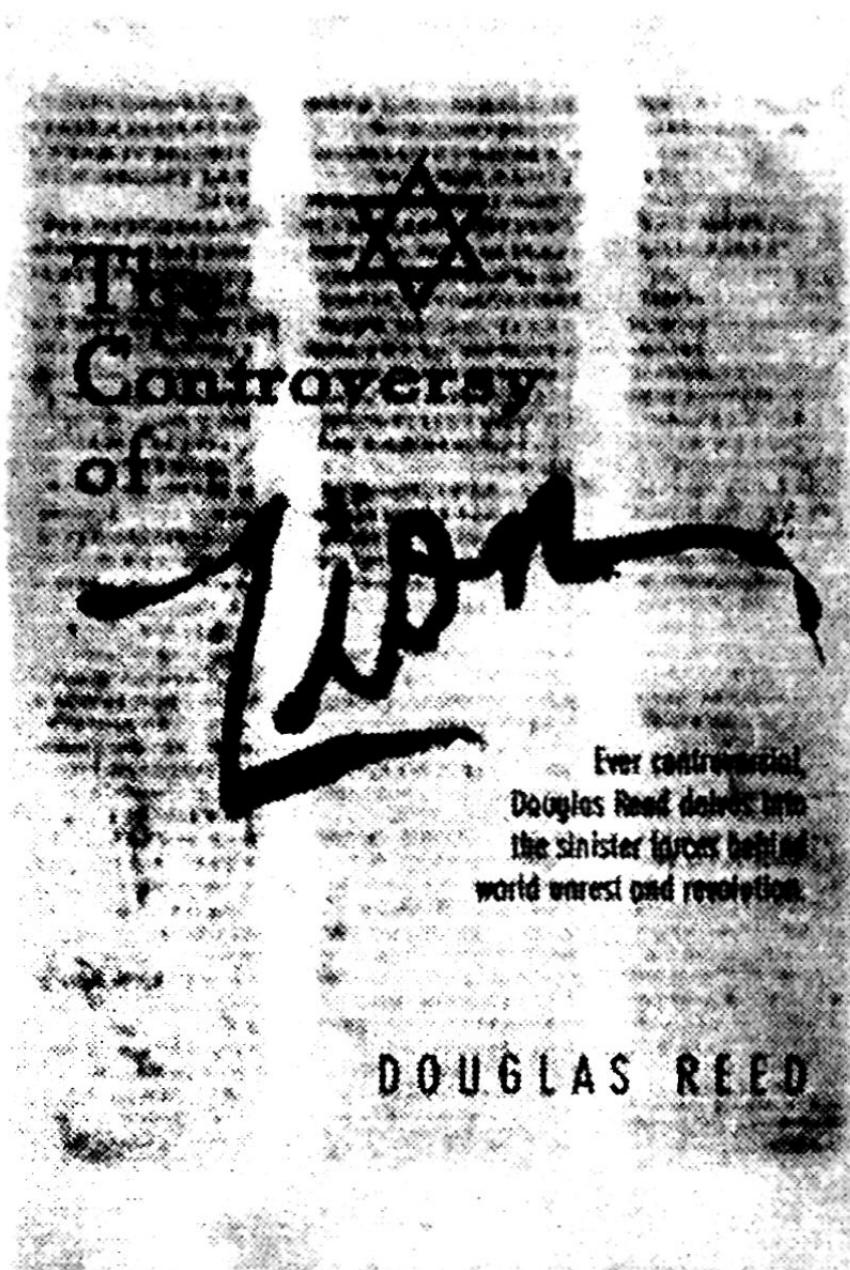

Despite this indisputable arithmetic, a Jewish woman named Kitty Hart authored a book entitled Return to Auschwitz. In this tome she stated, “Working around the clock, the four units together could dispose of about 18,000 bodies every 24 hours, while the open pits coped with a further 8,000 in the same period.”

Using Ms. Hart’s astounding calculations, the Nazis could have murdered six million Jews in approximately eight months. Has anyone ever stopped to analyze the insanity of these outrageous claims?

Fortunately, a few individuals have stepped forward to speak the truth on this matter. A Jewish woman named Olga Wormser-Migot penned a book in 1968 published by the Presses Universitaires de France that proclaimed, “Auschwitz I, which was to remain the model camp and simultaneously the administrative center, had no gas chamber.”

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

A few other facts: Historian Douglas Reed in The Controversy of Zion stated that the Germans and Japanese killed—in total—approximately 850,000 soldiers during WW II. Plus, Oskar Schindler's widow has gone on the record saying that Steven Spielberg's film Schindler's List is rife with lies. Then, by the time Russians reached Auschwitz in 1945, only about 11,000 inmates remained at this decimated facility.

Most importantly of all, Theis Christopherson—who spent nearly a year at Auschwitz—wrote, “I was in Auschwitz from Jan. 1944 until Dec. 1944. After the war I heard about the mass murders [that] were supposedly perpetrated by the SS against Jewish prisoners, and I was perfectly astonished. Despite all the evidence of witnesses, all the newspaper reports and radio broadcasts, I still do not believe today in these horrible deeds. I have said this many times and in many places.”

Christopherson continued, “During the whole of my time at Auschwitz, I never observed the slightest evidence of mass gassings. Moreover, the odor of burning flesh that is often said to have hung over the camp is a downright falsehood.”

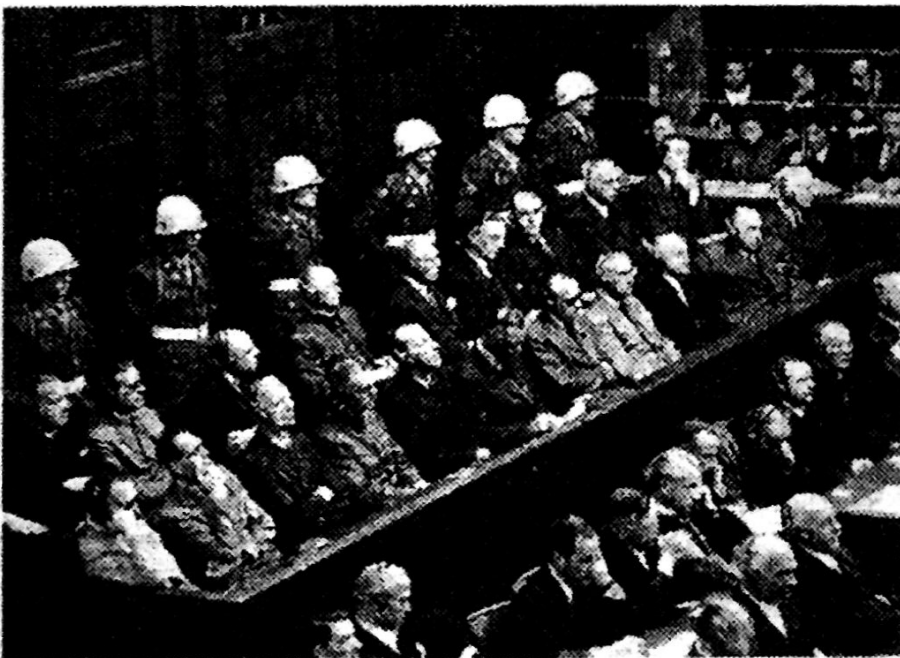

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

To simplify this matter, it would help if Jewish historians merely released a master list of the six million Jews who were supposedly executed by Nazis in concentration camps. But, such a list does not exist even though various individuals have tried to compile one over the years. The major problem is: the grand total never came anywhere near six million, and those who did perish never did so inside ovens or gas chambers.

Yet, grossly deceptive exaggerations have flourished for decades. Despite the sacred Kabbalistic figure of six million being permanently fixed in stone, this outlandish fairytale number has been significantly eroded in recent times.

Originally, a film entitled Nuit et Brouillard claimed that a whopping nine million Jews were killed in WW II. Other sources placed the totals at eight million, seven million, then finally six million. So, already we've reduced the grand sum by a third, from nine million to six million.

At the bogus Nuremberg Tribunal, an official figure of four million was established as the total number of Jews slaughtered at Auschwitz. But then, this figure for Auschwitz kept dropping.

Nuremberg Tribunal

• Jewish movie director Claude Lanzmann set the bar at 3.5 million;

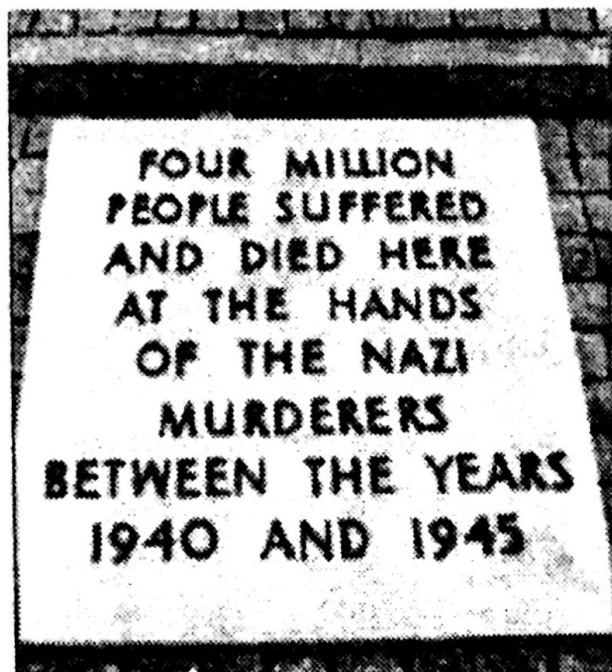

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

- SS commandant Rudolf Hoess testified at Nuremberg that three million Jews were murdered;
- Jewish prisoner Rudolf Vrba diminished it to 2.5 million;
- Lucy Dawidowicz reduced it down to two million;
- Finally, Jewish holocaust historian and author Yehuda Bauer furthered the decline to barely over one million.

Incidentally, other German camps similarly experienced dramatic reductions in death totals. For example, in 1946 it was claimed that over 238,000 Jews were murdered at Dachau. Today, that figure is barely over 20,000.

Yet, up until 1990, a plaque at Auschwitz read: "Four million people suffered and died here at the hands of the Nazi murderers between the years 1940 and 1945."

But then, miraculously, in 1990 a new plaque was erected at

Original Auschwitz plaque with the alleged four million death count

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

Auschwitz with this inscription: “May this place where the Nazis assassinated 1,500,000 men, women and children, a majority of them Jews from diverse European countries, be forever for mankind a cry of despair and of warning.”

Wait a second. The Auschwitz death toll—in the snap of a finger—plummeted from four million to 1.5 million overnight. That’s a reduction of 2.5 million.

So, how does the mythical six million remain? Shouldn’t this figure—logically—also be immediately slashed by 2.5 million to reflect Auschwitz’s admission? Shouldn’t it correspond to reality?

But did a million individuals—Jews and non-Jews—die at Auschwitz, or was the sum even lower? A 1995 report entitled The Changing Face of Holocaust Memory released by the American Jewish Committee clearly stated, “The figure of four million was as wrong as it was round, arrived at by a combination of the camp’s commandant’s self-aggrandizing exaggerations, Poles’ perceptions of their great losses, and the Soviet occupiers’ desire to create socialist martyrs.”

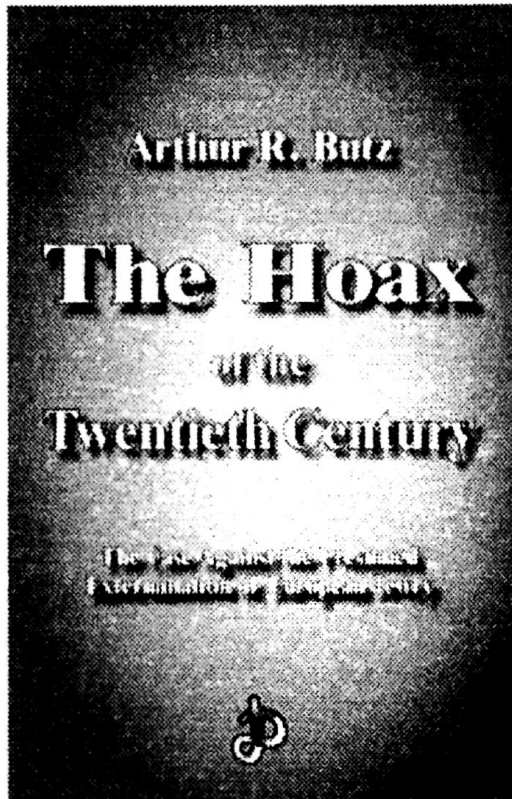

Where did these “lost” 2.5 million Jews go? How could such an enormous quantity of people simply “poof” away like chalk from a blackboard? Even more startling are various individuals who’ve weighed in with starkly lower totals.

- Jewish historian Raul Hilberg set his best estimate regarding the total deaths of all Jews during WW II at nearly 897,000.

- A Swiss publication called Die Tat of Zurich conducted a survey rooted in International Red Cross findings and published them on Jan. 19, 1955. They fixed the number of individuals "who died in prisons and concentration camps between 1939 and 1945 at 300,000, not all of whom were Jews, and this figure seems the most accurate assessment."

- Arthur Butz, author of The Hoax of the Twentieth Century, concluded that less than half a million people in all died in German concentration camps during WW II, only a small percentage of whom were Jewish. He also estimated the total deaths at Auschwitz as being 125,000.

- Author, editor and analyst Fritjof Meyer wrote in Osteuropa that anywhere from 500,000-510,000 prisoners died in concentration camps, including Jews and non-Jews.

- According to Gerald Reitlinger, author of The Final Solution, the total number of registered detainees at Auschwitz during the entire course of WW II was 383,000.

- Israel Gutman, author of Anatomy of the Auschwitz Death Camp, placed this total at 405,000.

- Franciszek Piper has gone on record as saying that 197,820 inmates survived Auschwitz. He also wrote, "When Soviet soldiers liberated the camp in Jan. 1945, they found documents that confirmed only 100,000 deaths."

The Holocaust Hoax Exposed

- At Auschwitz I, on the back wall of Room 6, a plaque discovered by the German Contemporary Historical Educational Trust on June 5, 1985 read: “During the period of this camp’s existence, 405,222 prisoners—men, women and children—were entered in the books. Of this number, around 340,000 persons perished at Auschwitz and in the other camps.”

- As director of holocaust studies at Jerusalem’s Hebrew University, Yehuda Bauer published an article in Nov. 1989 admitting that the four million deaths at Auschwitz was a “deliberate myth.” The following year, in July 1990, Bauer and an Israeli named Yad Vashem declared at Poland’s Auschwitz State Museum that, altogether, possibly one million of those housed at this camp died (Jews and non-Jews).

Yehuda Bauer

- Charles Biederman—using records from Germany’s Special Registry Office—confirmed that a total of 373,468 individuals were issued death certificates at Auschwitz during WW II.

- When the Soviet army finally retrieved records from Oranienburg in Apr. 1945 they discovered that the overall death count in every German labor camp combined over the course of 10 years came to 403,713. Interestingly, the Russians kept these documents secret for 45 years. As for Auschwitz alone, the sum came to 73,137 total deaths. Of these, only 38,031 were Jewish. Most of these deaths resulted from typhus, while the onsite crematoria were intended to sanitarily dispose of the corpses so that more people didn't die from disease. Moreover, Catholic deaths far outweighed those of Jewish deaths at Auschwitz.

The Soviets also refused anyone access to Auschwitz for nearly 10 years after WW II. During that decade, they engaged in massive renovations to perpetuate the myth that millions were executed.

- In Auschwitz: The Final Count, editor Vivian Bird placed the number of inmate deaths at Auschwitz at 73,137. Bird assessed that she arrived at this figure by inspecting records directly from this facility.

- A quote from Shmuel Krakowsky, director of research at the Yad Vashem Museum in Israel, is particularly interesting. "The four million figure was let slip by Capt. Rudolf Hoess, the death camp's Nazi commander. Some have bought it, but it was exaggerated."

- If approximately 400,000 individuals were registered at Auschwitz and approximately 150,000 of all races and nationalities perished there, then 62 percent of everyone who entered Auschwitz survived.

To conclude this section, the Allies "Enigma" code-breaker at Bletchley Park decrypted Nazi radio dispatches by as early as 1943, including all those oriminating from Auschwitz. Not once was there any notation of deaths occurring from gas chambers, hangings or shootings. However, they do mention illness as leading to the vast majority of deaths.

Now, if the Allies did become aware of millions of executions in death camps, wouldn't they have dropped leaflets all across Europe to inform the citizenry, especially in Germany? If an actual occurrence, these war crimes would have been shouted from the rooftops far and wide. Also, in 1943 after breaking the German military code, why weren't there any reports of widespread executions broadcast on radios all across Europe?

Also, in 1979 the CIA released a cache of aerial recon photos that were obtained while flying over Auschwitz-Birkenau. These pictures were repeatedly taken beginning in 1943 and continued throughout 1944 when—according to holocaust historians—most of the supposed murders occurred.

But, when viewed, these documents show no lines of Jews awaiting execution. They also show no spewing chimneys, no huge piles of corpses, no skies blackened by smoke from crematoria, no huge ash piles, burning pyres, or blazing fires from the alleged smokestacks (that didn't even exist at the time). Nor is there any photographic evidence of enormous fuel storage units that would have been a prerequisite to kill millions of Jews.

Last but not least, if the Allies had seen via their aircraft thousands, if not millions, of Jews being executed at Auschwitz, why not simply bombard the Hungarian rail lines leading to this facility so that no one else could have been transported there? Without access via train, no more Jews would have been carted to these supposed concentration camps.
